Submitted to His Highness.

In connection with the revised rules for the Mysore Civil Service recently issued by Government, a resolution was brought forward by Mr. Abbas Khan at the Representative Assembly Session of October 1924 recommending

(i) "That the number of persons to be admitted into the cadre of the Civil Service through nomination on each occasion of recruitment by competition shall be, for the present, not less than twice the number recruited through competition.

(ii) That the nominations shall include new recruits as well as those who are already in service; and

(iii) That the age limit of those to be admitted into Civil Service through nomination be raised to 35 years."

The resolution received a large measure of support, but on the explanations and information furnished on behalf of the Government, it was ultimately withdrawn.

2. The question of the further action to be taken with reference to the discussions in the Representative Assembly was considered in Council on the 3rd instant, when the following opinion was recorded:-

" A short Government Order to be put up regarding the Resolution of the Representative Assembly-

(i) Proposal No. 1. This has been the policy hitherto and the Government will adhere to this policy.

(ii) Limit of age for those recruited by nomination may be raised to 35 years (with a general observation that this is intended for the benefit of those in the subordinate service who render meritorious service and may not be selected to the Civil Service before they are 32). In the case of those nominated from the Amildari service, the period of probation may be reduced to one year, if they have put in not less than 3 years' continuous service as Amildars."

3. No orders are necessary with reference to the second recommendation as the Government Order of the 22nd September 1924 already provides for nominations being being made of new recruits as well as of those in the subordinate ranks of the several departments.

4. A draft order in accordance with the Council opinion is submitted for His Highness' gracious approval

Resolution of the Representative Assembly - Dassara Session 1924:--

Resolution.	Dewan's reply.
(1) "That the number of persons to be admitted into the cadre of Civil Service through nomination on each occasion of recruitment by competition shall be for the present, not less than twice the number recruited through competition;	Mr. Abbas Khan wants two-thirds proportion for nomination. An examination of statistics collected in 1919 shows that the number recruited by competition upto 1918 was 12, the number recruited by direct nomination was also 12 and the number promoted from lower ranks 44 Thus it will be seen that the number recruited by nomination has really been very much more than two-thirds, ie. out of 68 appointments 56 were recruited by nomination and 12 by competition.
(2) "That the nominations shall include new recruits as well as those who are already in service,	So far as Govt. are concerned, they have really no very great objection to the principle embodied in Resolution (2) which has already been recognised and acted upon.
(3) "That the age limit of those to be admitted into Civil Service through nomination be raised to 35 years."	If 25 should be the limit for entry to the Civil Service by competition and 35 for entry by nomination, Govt. will have no objection to accept the suggestion, the difference between 32 and 35 being very small.

In view of the Govt's assurance that the principles of the resolution which are already being followed would continue to be kept in view in future also, the resolution was withdrawn.

Order No. 1578-1629/C.B.210-23-10

Dated, 6th January 1925.

At the Session of the Representative Assembly held in October 1924, Mr. Md. Abbas Khan moved a resolution on the subject of nominations to the Civil Service. The resolution received a large measure of support, but on the explanations and information furnished on behalf of the Government it was ultimately withdrawn. The resolution recommended:-

(1) "That the number of persons to be admitted into the cadre of the Civil Service through nomination on each occasion of recruitment by competition shall be, for the present, not less than twice the number recruited through competition

(2) That the nominations shall include new recruits as well as those who are already in service and

(3) That the age limit of those to be admitted into Civil Service through nomination be raised to 35 years".

2. With reference to the first recommendation, the number of appointments made to the Civil Service on the result of competetive examinations has always been only a very small proportion to the total number of appointments to this service, the number promoted from the subordinate ranks or selected by direct recruitment being considerably in excess of those coming in by competition. The Government have no intention of departing from this policy.

3 No orders are necessary with reference to the second recommendation as the Government Order read above already provides for nominationsbeing made of new recruits as well as of those in the subordinate ranks of the several departments.

4 With reference to the third recommendation, that the limit of age for those recruited to the Civil Service by nomination be ~~xxx~~ raised from 32 to 35 years, the Government observe that this suggestion appears to have been made for the benefit of those already in the subordinate service who may render meritorious service qualifying them for admission to the Civil Service, but may not be selected for such promotion before they reach 32 years The Government accept the recommendation and they are further pleased to direct that in the case of those nominated to the Civil Service from the Amildari service, the period of probation may be reduced to one year, if they have put in not less than three years continuous service as Amildar
